

5th June 2020

Dear families,

I'm sure that many of you will have spoken to your children regarding the death of George Floyd and recent events in the USA.

I'm aware that If we were in school, at this time, many classes would be having classroom and even playground discussions about the situation.

We would highlight the principles of Integrated education and use stories to encourage our children to have respect for all people.

I have listed two links below that use pictures and stories to help deal with and promote conversations about diversity and race.

<https://www.autismlittlelearners.com/2020/06/we-all-have-different-shades-of-skin.html?m=1>

<https://www.theguardian.com/childrens-books-site/2014/oct/13/50-best-culturally-diverse-childrens->

I hope you find them useful.

Helen Walker